FOREWORD

The school year is now ended, but many pleasant memories still linger on. These memories are yours to treasure always.

Who can forget the apprehension of fearful freshmen as they ducked through the halls on Freshie Day; the expectant hush which settled over the crowd as the curtain went up on our show, Capers; the magic of the senior prom and Christmas dance, that tense moment when the teacher handed you your first report card?

Who could forget the enthusiasm and support given to our team at games; the school spirit at rallies; those long walks around the halls in the morning; the mad crush in the lockers at 2:45; that glad day when juniors finally got their rings?

We hope as you turn the pages of this, Caduceus of 1960, these memories will be brought back as fresh and wonderful as when they first entered your thoughts.

Remember.

A MESSAGE FROM MR. SWEENEY

Dear Seniors:

Education and knowledge are the important units that will make your life worthwhile. Neither is yours without much effort being expended; neither is worth much without the other.

That you have completed one part of your education is evidenced by your graduation from the High School of Commerce. It is my hope that you will continue, either formally or informally, your education so that the acquisition of knowledge, the clear perception of truth, will enable you to use all you have learned and thereby make this world a better place for your having been in it.

The caduceus which gives this book its name is the symbol not only of commerce, but of medicine, science, and invention. None of these has much promise for mankind by itself. There must be a meld of these through the medium of education and knowledge for society to gain from them. God speed to you in your lives !

Congratulations and best wishes to the members of the Class of 1960. Working with you at the High School of Commerce during the past three years has been a most enjoyable and rewarding experience. You have established an enviable record through your academic achievements, and your performance in the extra-curricular activities has been outstanding.

As we approach June of 1960, we share with you the joys of completing your studies leading to a high school diploma, and a bit of sadness in the realization that you will not be with us at the start of the next school year. However, in the years to come we shall cherish the memories of the wonderful years we shared at Commerce.

May good fortune and success be yours, and may everything you do in the future bring credit and honor to you, to your community, and to your school.

Helen F. Flynn
Junior Guidance Counselor

Helen M. Lynch
Freshman Guidance Counselor

Several groups of people contribute to our academic life. All school business passes through the hands of the three ladies in the front office. Our futures are affected by the guidance our counselors give us in our school life at the present.

The members of the lunchroom staff are Isabelle Ross, Marion Gendron, Eleanor Lawler, Katherine Garneau, Christine Courtney, Maria Grimaldi, Martha Seaver, and Helen Woods.

LUNCHROOM, NURSE, AND MATRONS

Evelyn Nichols
Nurse

As we live through our school days, we constantly come in contact, either directly or indirectly, with several people who are responsible for our welfare. We rarely take notice of these people and the necessary work they do in our school. The preparation of nutritious food is the duty of our lunchroom staff. Whenever we feel ill, we may count upon our competent school nurse to lend a helping hand. We may give credit to the matrons for our immaculate school building. The absence of any of these people would result in a great loss to the student body and faculty.

Our school matrons are Mrs. Fenton, Mrs. Ferrara, and Mrs. Tessier.

Remember . . .
The delight when Mr. Sweeney joined our English classes for a few minutes of fun and poetry . . .

The uneasy feeling when we performed our first dissection in Biology . . .

The tenseness each time we had to give an oral report in class . . .

The mortification the first time we were caught chewing gum in class . . .

The dejection at those all-too-familiar words, "See me at 2:45!" . . .

The annoyance when Miss Midura forced us to slow down as we stampeded to the lunch room . . .

The relaxation we enjoyed in the movie room.

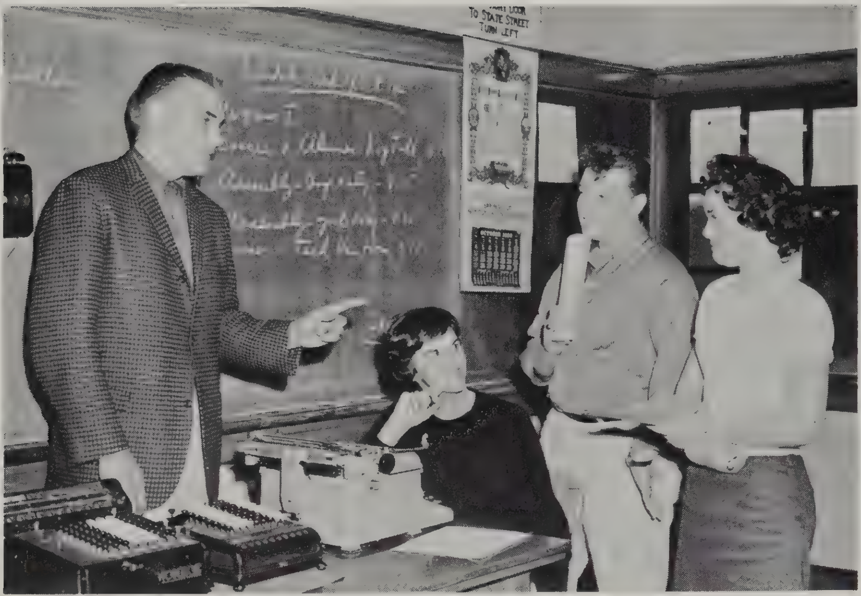
BUSINESS SUBJECTS PREPARE



Art Noren, Judy Davignon, James Gelonese, and Dorothy Delarm are acting out a skit about a typical office incident in relation to business law.

Business Law is an elective course offered to students interested in the legislative or legal type of vocation. One important feature of this course is a trip to the District Court where the actual proceedings are witnessed. This is important because it gives the students information and a clearer idea of how classroom knowledge is applied to real life.

Transcription is very closely related to stenography. In this class, the students type out the material that they have previously written out in shorthand. A girl or boy who wishes to take this subject must have a basic knowledge of good English grammar and excellent typing skills. Transcription replaces Type III for the senior stenography student.

STUDENTS FOR COMMERCIAL CAREERS

Danuta Basiak is at the blackboard showing the class a ledger entry. Looking on is Mr. Concheiri. Seated at desks are Eloise Begg and Theresa Bishop.

Students interested in mathematics usually elect to take the Bookkeeping course. In first year Bookkeeping, the fundamentals of the course are taught. These are general knowledge of everyday business transactions, making journal entries, and posting to the ledger accounts. In the second year of the course, students learn the more complicated and advanced statements, and are introduced into work that is almost identical to that of an actual business office.

One of the most widely used skills acquired at the High School of Commerce is that of a stenographic student. Under the supervision of the able faculty, Commercites are taught the main requirement of becoming an efficient secretary in the approaching future. The skills learned in this class are applied to actual business work in every office where Commerce graduates will be employed.

Distributive Education is a special course offered to students interested in the various phases of merchandising and retailing. Its students are scholars of two different types during the course of one day. They spend part of the day as typical high school students; the remaining part of the day is spent in on-the-job training. Combining both textbook learning and actual business experience makes the students of this course ready for almost any future type of work in relation to Merchandising.

VARIOUS ELECTIVES AID COMMERCITES

Shown at the top of the page are Gay Gallerini and Barbara Los in Hall Galleries, Steigers. The girls are setting up a display to help promote the sale of a set of dishware.

Mr. Fusco is shown below assisting Pat Laurier in the correct procedure of making out a check. These students are also taught the fundamentals of Clerical Bookkeeping.

Clerical Practice is a two-year course offered to students in their junior and senior years. This is a preparation for routine office tasks such as filling out checks, making entries in books, and properly answering the telephone. As the students successfully progress into the senior year, they will be enrolled in Clerical Bookkeeping. Upon completion of the course, the students have the knowledge and ability to undertake almost any type of office work or responsibility.

The High School of Commerce offers Filing to senior students as an elective. This subject is vital in every business office or organization, regardless of its size. Among the various methods of filing are alphabetic, numerical, geographic and many more. If students can successfully pass a test, they are awarded the Filing Certificate. Each year many students achieve this goal. Filing is a half-year course alternating with Machine Calculation.

IN CHOOSING FUTURE VOCATIONS

Barbara Sarage and Bill Leventis are pictured at the top of the page trying to solve the difficult filing procedure of the problem involved.

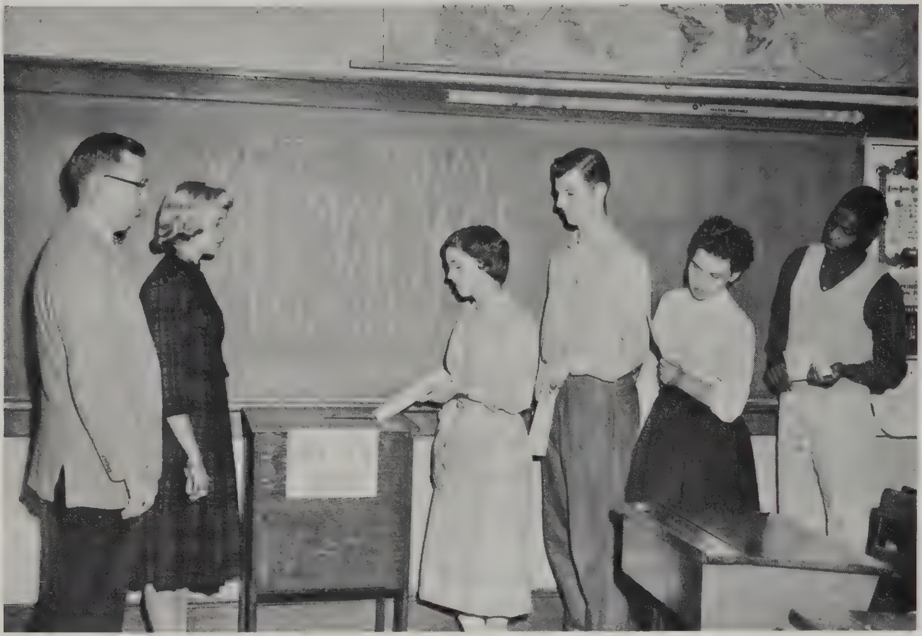
BURROUGHS CALCULATOR
Straight to the Answer

Machine Calculation is a course devoted almost entirely to the learning of the operation of comptometers and other calculators. Since this knowledge is vitally important in the modern business office, where the majority of graduates will be employed in the future, Commerce offers it as an elective. Students enrolled in this course learn the various steps to becoming full fledged operators. First of all, they learn addition; later on multiplication. The big step is subtraction, after which the peak of progress is reached when a student can master all these three, plus division.

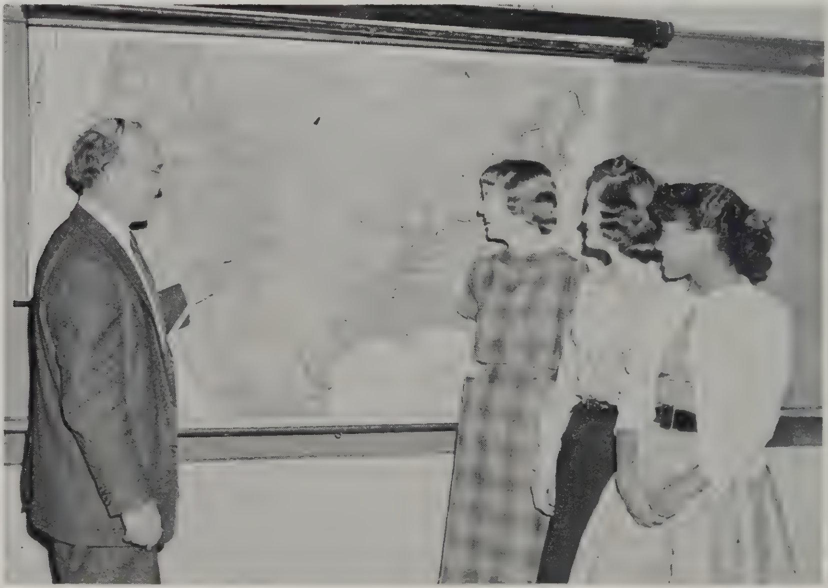
SOCIAL STUDIES GIVE AWARENESS OF HERITAGE



In a simulated election, Mr. Finnegan and Carol Ottoson are observing Joanne Lyman, Carl Greene, Rosemarie Borowik, and Gene Spencer in a senior civics class as they stress the importance of voting.

At Commerce we have a fine opportunity to learn about the world we live in through the courses which are offered to us for social studies. Geography, modern and American history, civics, and economics are the chief courses in the very complete program.

With the understanding they gain, students are able to apply their knowledge of past happenings to our present day situations. For instance, civics offers the student a better understanding on how the various branches of our government perform their numerous duties and how they solve their problems. Economics is an important subject in the world today. It deals with the satisfaction of human needs and political economy. Economics is essential to successful living and good citizenship. American history, modern history, and geography present to the student our own heritage and the many different types of people in this world and their customs.



In a junior American History class, Mr. Alminas is pointing out to Judith Keefe, Carol Murphy, and Faith Gladden the progress of the Western expansion.

ENGLISH PERVADES ALL PHASES OF LIFE

The scene pictured here is the familiar setting of one of Mr. Grant's senior English classes. Mr. Grant, as he presents a favorite poem, captures his student's avid interest. Listening intentively are the following: First Row: Carol Gordon, Rosemarie Casali, and Nancy Spagnoli. Second Row: Martha Dzuira, Geraldine Cullen, and Beverly Vaz. Third Row: Joanne Lyman and Carolyn Agen. Fourth Row: Barbara White, Ruth Therrien, and Ruth Sterner.

The English Department is the largest in the school, since English is used in all phases of life. We are fortunate to have outstanding teachers in this field who make our classes interesting and enjoyable.

The Commerce course includes grammatical work, the study of literature, and vocabulary. Many other English courses are offered in addition to the regular required course. Speech, Journalism, Enjoyment Reading, and Modern Literature are some of the electives. There are also special college preparatory courses offered to those who plan on continuing their education.

When we think of what our knowledge of English will mean to us in the future years and the direct bearing it will have on our ability to succeed, we readily give the English Department and its teachers our thanks for a job well done.

This scene took place in Miss Rankin's junior class of college preparatory English. In connection with the current Broadway hit play, The Miracle Worker, James Yvon is discussing illustrative material on the life of Helen Keller. Looking on with interest are Eleanor Komar, Michael Rickson, Eloise Berg, and Virginia Slater.

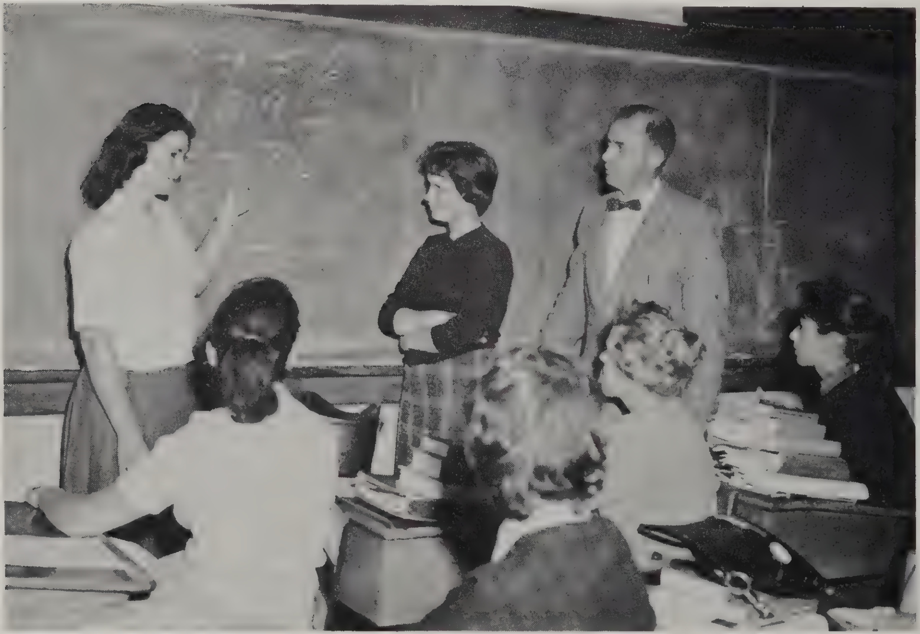
Many interesting experiments are done in Mr. Wilder's chemistry class. For example, the students in this picture are producing hydrogen. While in the foreground Evelyn Hanson works at the lab bench, she is watched by Pam Butler, Geraldine Cullen, Gary Small, and Dan Martin.

Biology, the study of life in all forms, is suggested to most freshmen. Interested students find themselves captivated by the many realms of the animal and plant kingdoms. Origins, reproduction, and basic structures of life are studied in detail.

Chemistry is the interesting study of the elements, such as oxygen, nitrogen and other matter which makes up our earth. It deals with the characteristics of substances and their behavior under various conditions. This subject is ideal for senior girls interested in nursing or students preparing for college.

Physics, the study of energy, is offered to both juniors and seniors. Pupils taking this course delve into the fascinating world of atoms and molecules. The fields of mechanics, light, heat, sound, and electricity are all touched upon during the year.

Business Mathematics, required of all freshmen, lays a strong foundation for those students who plan to take the clerical or bookkeeping course. The entire course is an intense review of the principles of math learned in previous years. It is a preparation for the more difficult work which lies ahead in junior and senior years.



Taking inventory in an office-supply house is only one of the problems which these Business Math students encounter. Pupils in this picture are in Mr. Della Giustina's Business Mathematics class.

PROVIDE FOR GREATER KNOWLEDGE AND CULTURE

What is holding the attention of these two Spanish students are two interesting and colorful Spanish posters on the bulletin board in Miss McCarthy's room. Standing are Elvera Black, Geraldine Gour, Patricia Chmura, Rosalie Sutton, and Joanne Woodlief. Seated is Mary Anne Whatley, who is looking up the English translation for el bailo. By looking at the poster on the left, can you tell what el bailo means?

The two foreign languages offered students are Spanish and French. Spanish, an easy and intriguing language to learn, is taught by Miss McCarthy. Students who select Spanish as one of their majors soon find out that it can be fun, if they do their homework faithfully.

French, taught by Mr. Murphy, is just as fascinating as Spanish. In French, also, pupils find out that homework is necessary if they want to master the language. Languages are a student's key to foreign culture.

Art is taught by Miss Marsden. In art, one learns about color schemes, how to use modeling clay, how to draw a good abstraction, what a good poster should contain, how to do block printing, and many other things. When a student elects art, he becomes acquainted with the world of color, imagination, and the line of perception. He gets a taste of what goes on in an artist's world, behind the creation of an unusual abstraction, or a realistic landscape.

These art students are really enjoying themselves in the project they have started — block printing. Mary Anne Whatley is showing an example of a block print to Connie Walker and Judy Abbe, who are copying it on pieces of linoleum. Joe Antico and Walter Champagne are pressing a design in another piece of linoleum. Block printing is only one of many projects that the art classes undertake.

THE BAND

THE CHORUS

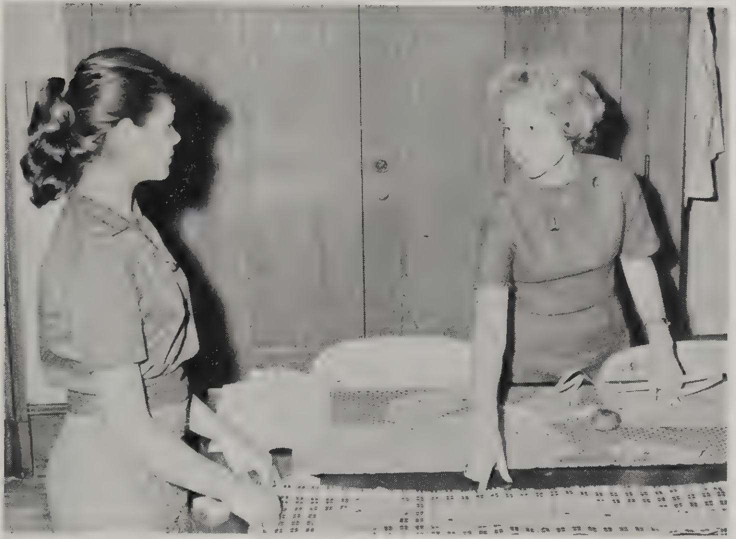
MUSIC DEVELOPS AESTHETIC APPRECIATION

This year the band, under the capable leadership of Mr. Nickerson, has contributed much to the lively spirit of our school rallies as well as adding color to some of our other special assemblies.

Anyone — boy or girl — with an appreciation for music is eligible to join the chorus. The chorus always has the privilege of being in the Christmas Assembly and in the Music Festival. Because boys can join the chorus, this breaks away from the monotony of all-girls groups.

Only girls who have an above-average voice and who have acquired the knack of reading music can join the choir; it is a select, small group. The choir is always a feature in the Christmas Assembly and the Music Festival.

The various glee clubs are the largest groups. They take pleasure in competing with each other for the honor of being in the Christmas Assembly. All take part in the Music Festival.



Above: Beverly Papelardo and Michele Hebert are shown comparing patterns. Both girls are making sportswear which they will wear in the coming summer months.

HOME EC, GYM CARE FOR PHYSICAL WELL-BEING

Home economics prepares girls for their future careers as wives and mothers. In the cooking classes, girls learn how to prepare appetizing and colorful meals built around a well-balanced diet. They are also taught how to set a table properly, serve a meal correctly, choose the right foods for a healthful menu, and manage an efficient home budget.

Sewing class teaches girls about style and fashions, and how to make their own clothes. Girls learn how to choose patterns and materials that will flatter their figures. At the end of the year, a fashion show is put on so that the girls may model the clothes they have made.

The main purpose of the Physical Education class is to build a strong, healthy body. Apparatus work, sports, and exercises are just a few of the activities which are carried on in the gym during and after school.

Remember . . .
The pride on that warm September day when we stood before a mirror and carefully adjusted our new Senior hats. . . .

The happiness as we took our seats in the assembly hall as Seniors for the first time . . .

The amusement we found in exchanging class pictures and scribbling silly sayings in yearbook after yearbook . . .

The enchantment that filled the air that snowy evening that was our Senior Christmas Ball . . .

The nostalgia that filled our hearts with sadness and our eyes with misty tears on Class Day, 1960 . . .

The thrill of that magical, musical night, our own Senior Prom . . .

The sincere regret with which we leave behind the secure walls of Commerce.

It was December 23, 8:00 in the evening of the Seniors' Christmas Ball. The couples, attired in a beautiful array of colors, accentuated the festive atmosphere of the gaily decorated gym. They danced around the traditional Christmas tree while soft, silent snowflakes drifted from above.

Amid the happy faces and gay chatter, the sweet refrains of music provided by the Harmony Kings blended with the holiday spirit.

Remember . . .

The excitement as we entered Commerce for the first time . . .

The nervous apprehension each time we saw a white-capped Commercite on that fateful Freshie Day . . .

The pride when we slipped on our shiny class rings for the first time . . .

The tenseness present everywhere during that dreaded week of final exams . . .

Those cokes consumed daily at three o'clock in Armand's or was it the Oxford . . .

The happiness when we made the honor roll and the chagrin when we saw that first red "E" . . .

The fun we had roaming the corridors every morning before 8:30.

JUNIOR

A bright day for the Juniors! The day had finally arrived when they received their rings.

Here we are, quietly anticipating the start of an assembly rally before a game at the Sprinfigeld College Field House. Our team was sure to win!

LIGHTS

From one extreme to another! We were certain of a victory now, with our teachers and parents helping us.

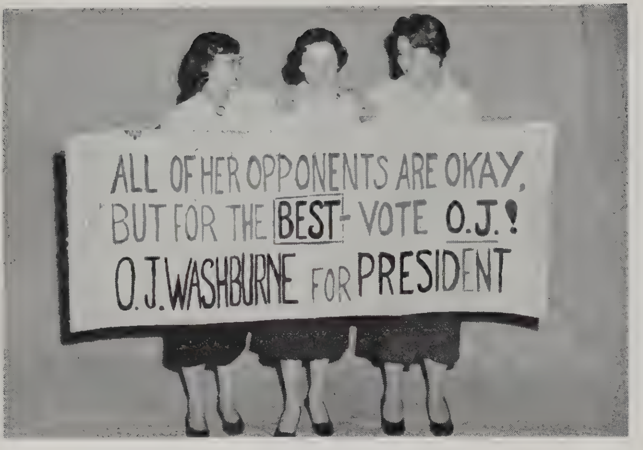
FRESHMAN ELECTIONEERING



ALL OF HER OPPONENTS ARE OKAY,
BUT FOR THE BEST - VOTE O.J.!
O.J. WASHBURNE FOR PRESIDENT

The freshmen excelled in their campaigning;

The students carefully submitted their vote.

These officers were elected without anyone's complaining;

Elected as officers (left) were Alyce Boussy, Richard Pietrucci, Diana Richards. Elected as members of the Student Council (below) were Diane Roma, Eleanor Lawler, Linda DiSanti, Gerald Frisby, Mary Jane Shea, Carolyn Ugolini.

"Such an excellent student council!" we quote.

We'll remember our part in the class competition;

At guidance meetings we overcame our fear;

LIFE

To a series of tests, there seemed no completion;

The freshman drill team we soon learned to cheer.

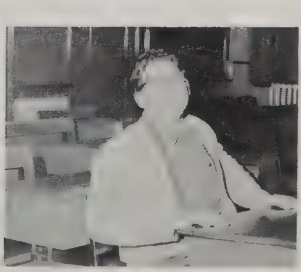
Study Woes



Remember . . .
The anticipation as the curtain rose on each and every Capers production . . .

The merriment that prevailed when a frightened hen escaped into the audience . . .

The beauty of the Music Festival as we welcomed spring to Commerce . . .

The nervousness at each honor roll assembly as we waited tensely on the edge of our seats, hoping to hear our name read . . .

The pandemonium that reigned each time a dull Friday afternoon was interrupted by the familiar strains of "When the Saints Go Marching in," signaling the start of another rally.

GENERAL ORGANIZATION COLLECTS,

G. O. was started in the High School of Commerce to centralize the collection of funds and to keep an accurate record of the money coming in from the various activities of the student body. Many advantages are presented to students who join G. O. Among them are: reduced prices for Caduceus and all the game tickets, free distribution of the school paper and many others. Pupils who do not belong to G. O. cannot vote or run as officers of their class. Also, every year a dance is given free to students belonging to G. O.

The patrols perform important functions at the High School of Commerce. They check passes, direct strangers, enforce school laws, and report intruders. They also help keep the school quiet during classes. The patrols consist of freshmen, junior, and senior boys; and senior and junior girls who are recommended for patrol by their teachers.

Although it is raining during the patrol picnic, the members still seem to be enjoying themselves as they snack on chocolate ice cream. Here are Mr. Conchieri, Lynn Watson, Pat Wyman, Sue Marren, Pat Mederian, Lois Gurney, Judi Bradway, and Gale Freyenhagen.

Pictured on this page are the Office Aids of Miss Flynn, Miss Lynch, and Mr. Sweeney. These girls relieve the office staff of some of its routine tasks. This enables the office workers to concentrate on their more important duties.

Shown on the opposite page are the Kumtux girls. The purpose of this organization is to promote friendship among fellow students. The girls, with their faculty adviser, Miss Lynch, strive to benefit others. This year they have made afghans for the Veteran's Hospital, made face-cloth animals for the Belchertown State School, and send packages to CARE. These are only a few of the projects of this group.

Also pictured on the opposite page are the Hi-Y boys. This organization works to enhance the idea of Christian fellowship and physical fitness.

A Mutual Savings Bank
SLOW DOWN

The Red Raiders Savings Bank, a branch of Junior Achievement, is under the supervision of the Springfield Institution for Savings. This organization encourages students to save for the future. Pictured during a typical "Banking Day" are: Nancy Smith, Sandra Bielecki, Miss Gary, a supervisor from the S.I.S., Eleanor Larson, Jeanne Letourneau, and Michael Czeck.

Not everyone realizes what a large amount of work is offered by students to help run our community and school efficiently. Many of these voluntary workers lift the burden off the shoulders of busy administrators. This self-sacrifice is usually rewarded with a most sincere word of appreciation from fellow-students and adults alike.

The student lunchroom crew relieves the cafeteria help of several tasks. Some of these are cashiering, stacking dishes and putting them into the dishwashing machine in time to be ready for use in the following lunch period. The boys and girls who assume this responsibility are: John Pine, Judith Carlson, Carol Teel, Michael Czeck, Kathy Collings, Jane Malecki, Margo Kolburg, Gloria Topoosian, Theodora Siniscalchi, Elinor Hodge, Sandra Antaya, Brenda Salter and Richard Haglund.

TO THEIR SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY

Each year before Christmas-time it is a tradition for Commercites to volunteer their spare time after school to type addresses for the annual Tuberculosis Association Christmas seal drive. These three girls, Geraldine Giancola, Joanne Lyman and Rita Bourcier, volunteered for the largest number of typing sessions.

Commerce was granted an interview with program director Jack Moltenbrey at the Tuberculosis Association Center. Three students chosen for the interview are shown listening to an explanation about a T.B. machine. They are Virginia Richards, Beverly Webster, Mr. Moltenbrey, and Frances Rozkuszka.

Girls in the Commerce Junior Red Cross group take responsibility in helping welfare. Each year gift boxes are filled with special articles and sent to the needy. This organization receives the support of all Commercites. Shown looking over posters created for a special drive are Betsy O'Donnell, Judy Davignon, Dorothy Duren and Betty Lyle.

"There's what I want!" says Joanne Goodnough as Ronald Ardolino and Richard Haglund look on. This is a familiar quotation from students on a visit to the Trading Post. Pat Vyskocil, Lynne Watson, and Bonnie Willis are among the helpful clerks at the "Post" from 8:00 to 8:25 on Monday and Thursday mornings.

The clerks at the Trading Post spend much of their precious time serving our needs.

SPARE-TIME

The Drama Club produces plays and skits for the enjoyment of the entire school.

DEVELOP SPECIALIZED

Mary Anne Whatley, Judy Keefe, Henry Jutras, and Joan Calder hold an informal discussion about plans for pantomimes to be performed before the rest of the drama club. Mr. Michaels, who is the speech teacher, coaches the group.

Barbara Kamuda, Elaine Peck, Carl Greene, and Bert Dolan are among the Audio Visual Aid operators who have become skilled technicians under Mr. Jones' training and supervision.

Without the Audio-Visual Aids many of the movies that make learning interesting would not be shown.

THAT WON

— CAP

The theme of this year's Capers show was various styles of American music: Hillbilly, Beatnik, Ragtime, and Rock 'n Roll.

Mountaineers in jeans and bright plaid shirts made up the enthusiastic background for the performers in the Hillbilly section of the show.

Above: Linda Macaulay, Marcia Richards, Barbara Schroeder, Susan Marren, and Miss Zajchowski watch Mr. Grant place a beard on Beatnik Harold Pehlvanian, before he appeared in the show.

Lucille Bedard, Eleanor Soja, Joanne Pietras, Beverly Vaz, Barbara Trela, and Yvonne Vermette in the role of Hillbillies helped make the Hillbilly section of the show a big success.

DERFUL SHOW

The audience was projected into the world of the Beatniks by low lights, moody music, and Beatnik-style performances.

The third act was based on Ragtime vs. Rock 'n Roll. Both sides were able to produce first-rate performances as proof of their abilities.

Above: Violet Richardson, Carol Samble, and Barbara Fronzi high-lighted the Beatnik section with an oriental dance number.

Freshie Day is an old tradition, climaxing a week of helping freshmen adjust to life at Commerce. Each year an assembly is held in which freshmen are asked to perform various stunts, more entertaining to the upperclassmen than themselves. These activities are continued during lunch.

According to the custom, the freshmen dress in extremely odd fashions. This year the freshmen girls were asked to wear sailor hats tied on their heads with a ribbon; a man's shirt backward, with a neck tie in the back; one shoe and sock; one nylon stocking with a sneaker. The freshie boys were to roll up their pant legs; wear baseball hats backward; one shoe and one sock; one sneaker with an athletic sock.

It was the Freshie Day Assembly that the seniors and juniors enjoyed the most — at the expense of the Freshman class. Some freshmen found it extremely troublesome eating pie without the proper utensils, while others became terrified when they were told they were going to participate in a dance contest before the entire school. Several others were amazed to find themselves taking part in a mock wedding. Even though the assembly lasted for an hour, everyone was disappointed to see it end.

During lunch the freshies were performing many peculiar stunts, such as counting the bricks in the wall with their noses, drinking out of baby bottles, eating while either standing on the floor or on a stool. Of course, no Freshie Day would be complete without hearing groups of freshmen "reverently" singing "We Love the Seniors" and doing the Bunny Hop.

One outlet at the High School of Commerce for securing further knowledge is the frequent assemblies. These are both recreational and educational. Some stress civic affairs, while others stir up awareness and interest in extra-curricular and academic goings-on.

An excellent example of an assembly held to create interest in outside social news is the telephone assembly. During this, the new long distance dial system was introduced. Another similar occurrence was the Kiwanis Club assembly. Several men and women spoke of the opportunities in the business world, their connection with the Kiwanis Club, and finally their over-all relation to the average Commercite.

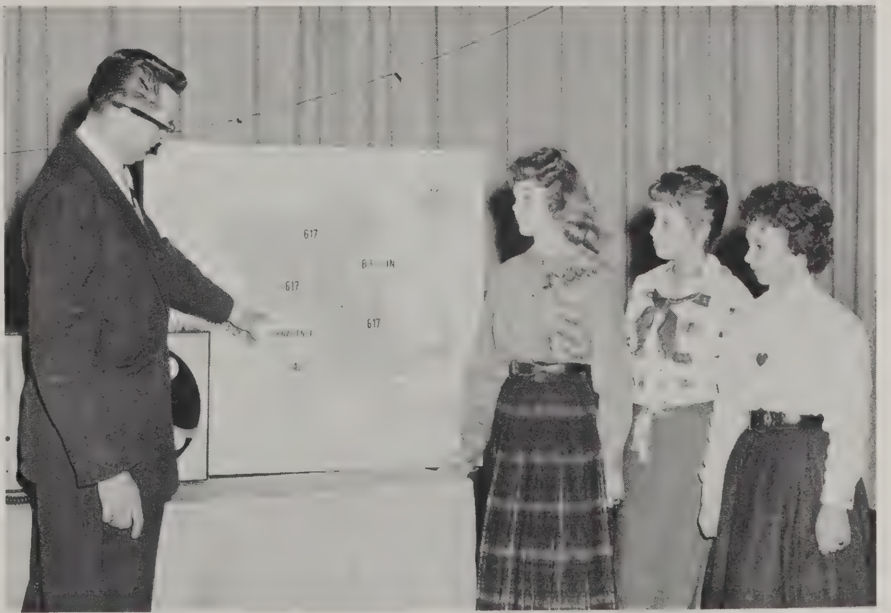
The lively sports rallies are a sample of the eagerness and enthusiasm felt by every Commerce student who hopes that the Red Raiders will be victorious in that evening's game.

To sum it up, the assemblies provide much additional entertainment in the average day at the High School of Commerce.



CADUCEUS PUBLISHES PERMANENT MEMORY BOOK

Caduceus is the students' yearbook. Members of the Caduceus editorial staff meet daily under the direction of Mr. Raymond Ellison. If you happened to pass 317 any afternoon during seventh period, you probably saw the student editors working industriously to beat the deadline. These are the students who plan the book, do the makeup, and see it through publishing. They are well rewarded at the end of the year to see the enthusiastic look on the faces of their classmates as they receive their yearbooks.

COMMERCE EDITORS, REPORTERS RACE WITH DEADLINES

Commerce is the school's monthly paper. The reporters roam the school throughout the day, with an eye out for news. The staff meets second period each day to write their stories and make up the paper. They must work hard to beat those seemingly perpetual deadlines. But with the expert guidance of Miss Connell, faculty adviser, they always make those deadlines with time to spare. They look over their paper proudly on the day of distribution knowing that it is another job well done.

Be mentally physically alert

Remember . . .
The deep pride each time we stood to sing, "Go, Commerce, ever forward" . . .

The fierce loyalty with which we stood by our teams in defeat and the joyful exuberance with which we cheered them on in victory . . .

The hushed moments when we prayed for that winning point when one of our boys held the game in his hands . . .

The times we waited in almost painful anticipation for the results of the team try-outs, hoping, praying that we made the varsity or even the junior varsity . . .

The wild clamoring and bell-ringing and confetti throwing when we realized the game was ours.

The Raiders ended the '59 season with a record of 7 wins and 8 losses and caused a stir in the Interschool League. The Raiders defeated Tech, dropped two decisions to Classical, and finished in third place.

Randy Smith, who batted .379, was the Raiders' most consistent player in the '59 campaign. Flanking him in the outfield were Vin Verducci and Bob Anti. Henry Brodecki, a little overburdened with pitching duties, hurled steady ball.

The highlight of the season was at Ruth Elizabeth in the first Longmeadow game. Going into the ninth, Longmeadow led, 5-3. With 2 strikes against him, Tom Wright smashed one for a three-run homer to win the game.

Coach Holley deserves a pat on the back for the good job he did with an undermanned Commerce club.

"It's a double!" Here Marty Dumschat helps the Commerce team extend their lead over Technical.

Although the 1959 football season was not very successful, the team's morale was always high. Coach Troy said, "The freshman team looked very good. We can use some of those men on our team next year."

The best game of the season was played against Tantasqua. Besides its being the only game the Raiders won, the best blocking and tackling were displayed.

Some of the outstanding players on this team were Al Parker, a fast runner who got the Raiders out of many spots; John LeValle, on defense; Ham Wray, an efficient back; Art Noren, a tackle; and Art Hurston, who did his share of guarding. These additions to our team made some of our opponents work up a sweat, even though they did win their games.

All in all, Coach Troy thinks he'll have a winning team back next year, and that the team this year accomplished much in their enthusiasm and good sportsmanship.

TECH GETS SCARE; SOCCER TEAM VALIANT

"That's usin' your head!" Paul Pena, Commerce's center halfback, quickly hands the ball to another Raider.

During the 1959 Soccer season, the Raiders won only five out of their 14 games. Although Mr. Holley didn't have many returning lettermen, the team put up a good fight all the way.

The outstanding players were Paul Penna, who won All-City and Western Massachusetts recognition Bob Knox and Jackie Coughlin, who won All-City Honorable Mention; and Tom Wright, who was present at every game and always played his hardest and best.

The highlight of the season was the first Commerce-Tech game, played at Kings Field. During the first few seconds of the first period, Dick Sullivan scored the only Commerce goal. It took Tech two overtimes to beat our determined team. They finally scored two goals to win over the Raiders, 2-1.

The good sportsmanship and high spirits, whether wining or losing, of this Commerce team will long be remembered by their opponents.

CAGERS HAVE FAIR SEASON; HOPE TO DO BETTER IN '60-'61

The 1959-1960 season was fairly successful for the Red Raiders varsity basketball team. Out of the eighteen games played, Commerce broke even, winning 9 and losing 9.

One of the most interesting games of the year was the next to the last, Commerce-Cathedral. If Cathedral had been defeated, it would have resulted in a tie in the interschool league between Cathedral and Classical. Commerce, battling all the way through the game to the last play, lost the game on a Cathedral player's miracle shot. The final score was 54-59 in favor of the Panthers.

Despite the defeats that counterbalanced the victories, the Raiders had a determined spirit throughout the season. The large turnout of students at the games, and the cheering of all fans encouraged the players to continue with enthusiasm and also with confidence in their school's loyalty.

Next year should prove to be more successful with such promising players as Russell Orr, Art Granfield, Bobby Ryan and Bobby Donahue returning.

Mr. Ellison and the Caduceus editorial staff wish to extend our deep gratitude toward those people who have given their time so unselfishly in helping to make this year's Caduceus one of the best books our school has ever printed:

Mr. Jones, who has without complaining filled our orders for pictures of classes, sports, and activities. (Obviously, Mr. Jones could never be called a fair-weather friend.)

Miss McCleary and her staff, for their assistance in completing the difficult photographic details.

Miss Henderson and her staff, for their assistance in furnishing the yearbook with the Senior pictures.

Gail La Brode, for providing the much-needed cartoons.

Denny Donahue and Tom Wright, for their sports stories and captions.

Miss Greenleaf and Mr. Troy, for their cheerful cooperation in all sports matters.

Gerry Giancola, for those all-important candids.

We also thank the patient teachers whose classes were sometimes invaded by the editorial staff members seeking vital information.

Roy,
Best wishes to a great kid, with an unbeatable personality. I'll always remember the fun we had in math, (what a ball). I've got to admit you're one of the biggest flirts (con-attest
I've ever met.

To Ray—
I must say Mr.
Alexander your one of the biggest flirts I have ever met and I must admit you sure know how to go about while in the process.
I'll never forget the first day I saw you in Math, and & the way you dressed and undressed me with your eye's and winked at me.
Dont ever forget the times
we had ~~at~~ in Math, because I know I won't. Good luck with your girl, and may God bless you always.
Always remember
me in your prayers.
